Mind- scapes

Il meraviglioso è sempre bello, anzi, solo il meraviglioso è bello.

The wonderful is always beautiful, indeed, only the wonderful is beautiful.

-Andrè Breton
Manifesto del Surrealismo /Surrealism Manifesto

Ispirato al grande movimento Surrealista di Dalì, Magritte e Mirò, questo catalogo è un viaggio tra astratto e tangibile, che mette in discussione la realtà celebrando l'immaginazione. Immagini familiari sconfinano nell'ignoto invitando ad esplorare l'invisibile e a celebrare i sussurri silenziosi della mente.

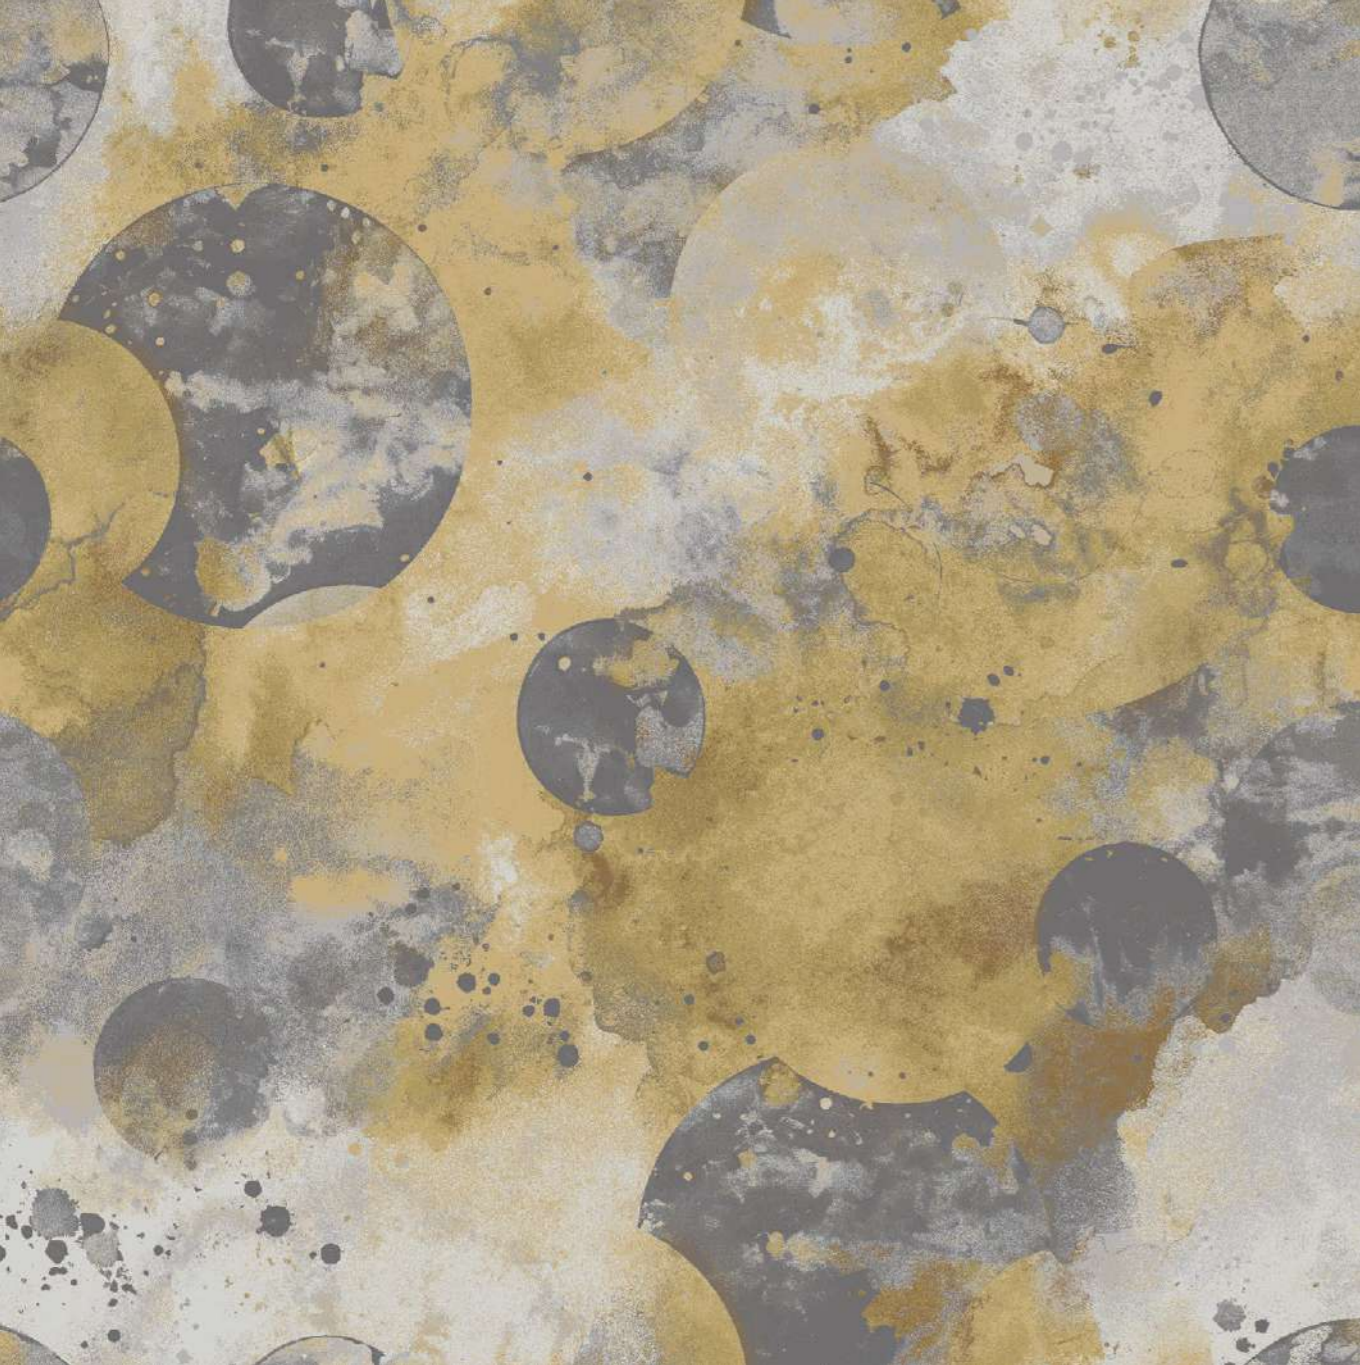

Inspired by the great Surrealist movement of Dalì, Magritte and Mirò, this catalog is a journey between the abstract and the tangible, questioning reality while celebrating the imagination. Familiar images digress into the unknown inviting us to explore the invisible and celebrate the silent whispers of the mind.

Dream

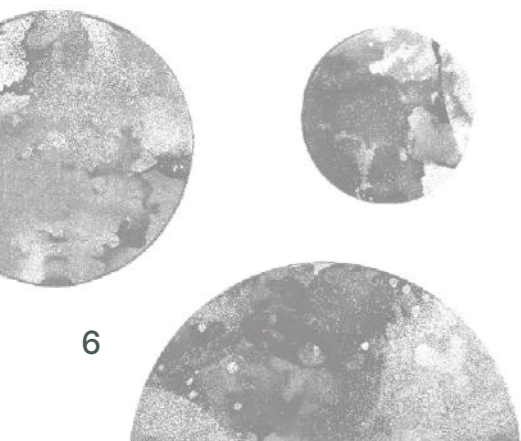

L'attività onirica in cui paure, pulsioni e desideri emergono dai silenziosi meandri della nostra mente, spesso inesplorati e inaccessibili quando si è svegli.

The oneiric state in which fears, impulses and desires emerge from the silent meanderings of our minds, often unexplored and inaccessible when we are awake.

Illusion

Una riflessione sul confine tra reale e finzione dove gioco e umorismo vengono utilizzati come mezzi espressivi.

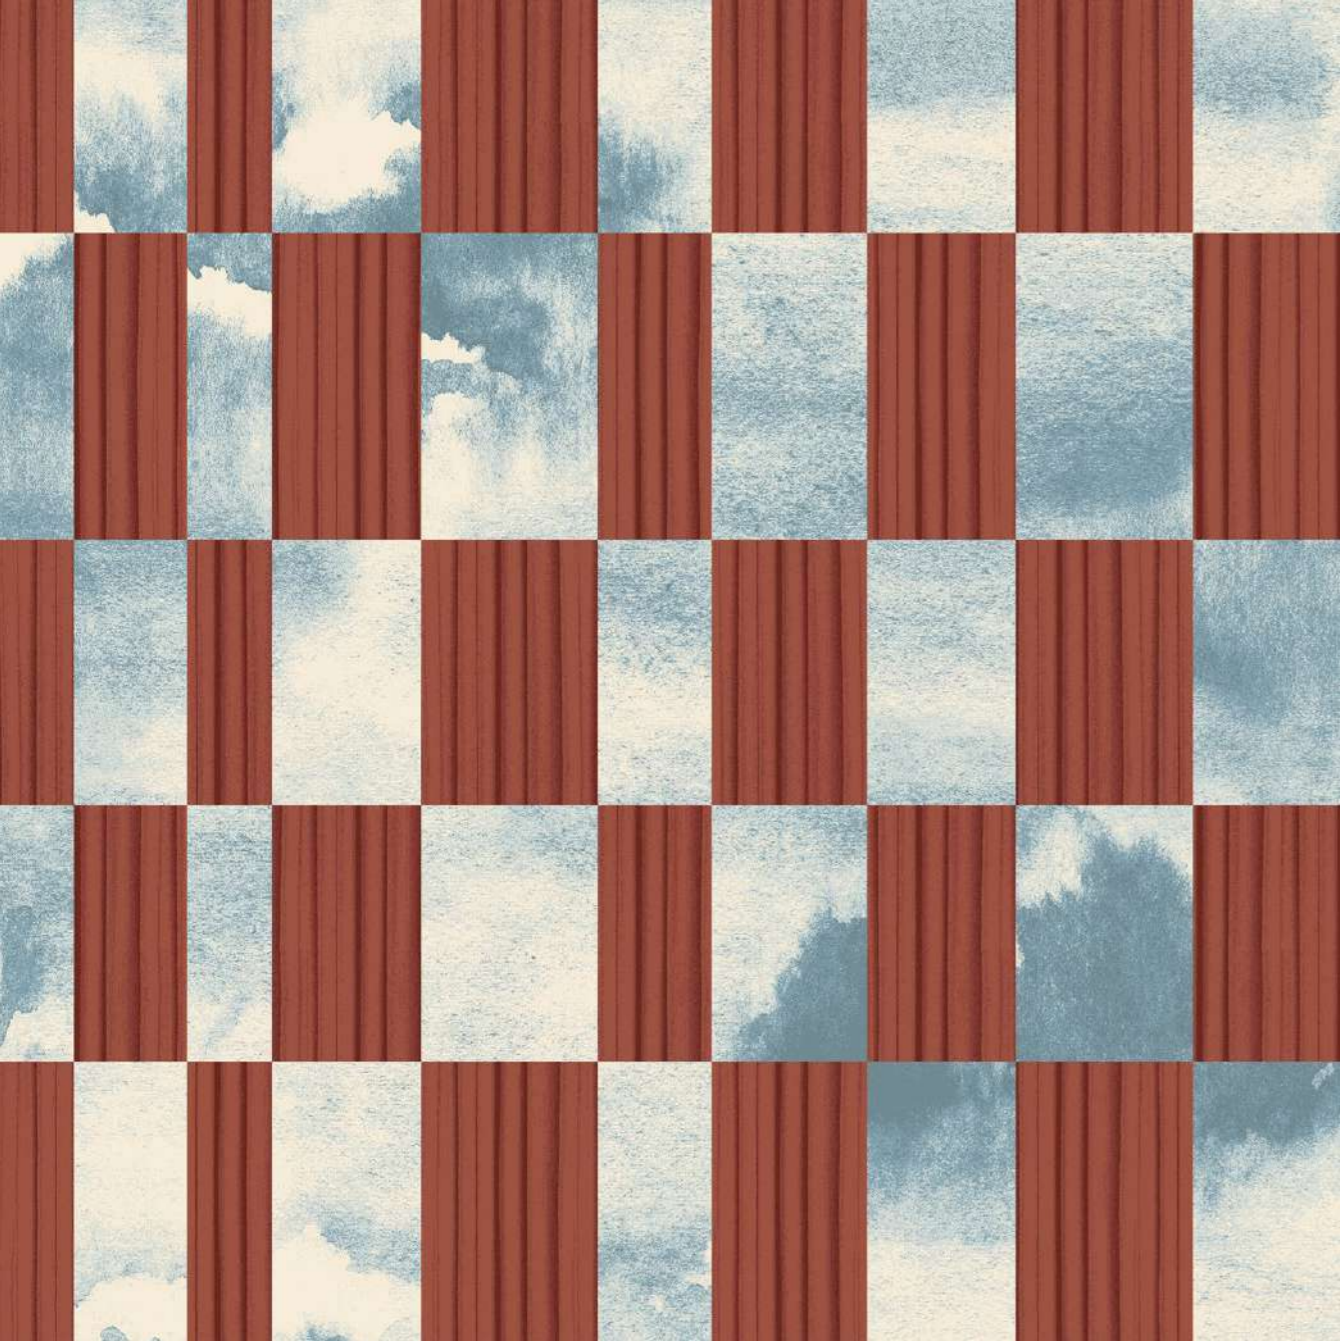

A reflection on the limit between real and fiction where play and humor are used as means of expression.

La realtà non è mai come la si vede:
la verità è soprattutto immaginazione.

Reality is never as you see it: truth is mostly imagination.
