Sustainability is one of the most current challenges for designing workspaces. The focus of every conversation is the well-being of people and the growing need for contact with nature. We want to create bright and vibrant working environments in which to create a community and live by our values.

La sostenibilità è una delle sfide più attuali che il design degli spazi di lavoro si trova ad affrontare. Al centro di ogni discussione c'è il benessere delle persone e l'esigenza sempre più forte di contatto con la natura. Abbiamo bisogno di ambienti di lavoro luminosi e vivaci in cui creare una comunità e vivere in linea con i nostri valori.

Not your usually industrial space: large windows open onto a forest, a garden or a green terrace to take a moment to relax

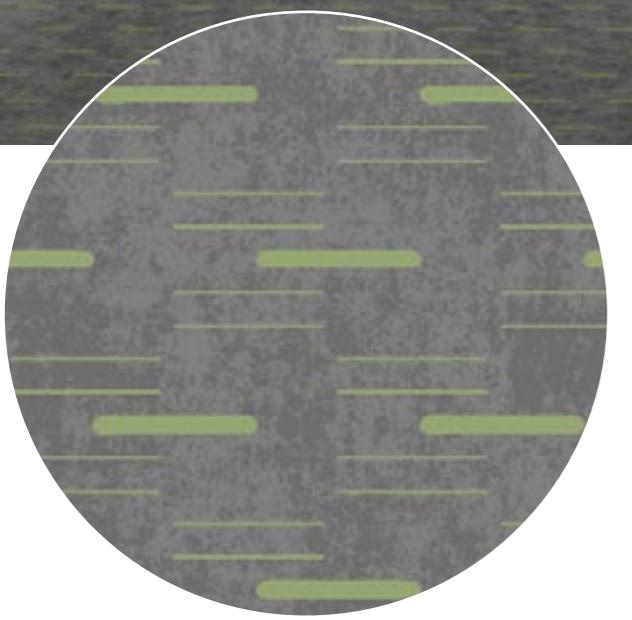

Non il solito spazio industriale: ampie finestre aprono la vista a foreste, giardini o terrazze verdi in cui prendersi un momento di relax.

The design of sustainability begins with the choice of organic materials to recreate a feeling of naturalness and freshness: plants and nature inspired elements, such as wood together with carpets and rugs in warm colours and green tones.

The abundance of natural light also contributes to create a more ecological and livable environment. Taking advantage of daylight means reducing dependence on artificial lighting. This will ensure an energy efficient office, together with improving concentration for the individuals.

Il design della sostenibilità inizia dalla scelta di materiali organici in grado di ricreare una sensazione di naturalezza e freschezza. Il perfetto mix tra elementi naturali e pavimentazioni tessili dai colori caldi con sfumature verdi consentono di creare una particolare atmosfera di benessere.

Per potere rendere il nostro ambiente ancor più sano ed ecologico abbiamo bisogno di un'ottima luce naturale, che oltre a ridurre notevolmente i consumi energetici, presenta molteplici vantaggi funzionali, psicologici ed emotivi.
